

Dear Valued Member:

If you have a credit report, there's a good chance that you're one of the 143 million American consumers whose sensitive personal information was exposed in a data breach at Equifax, one of the nation's three major credit reporting agencies.

The FTC (Federal Trade Commission) has published an article stating the facts of the breach and what you can do to protect yourself. Click here to read the article.

It's also important to note that while Crescent Credit Union takes every available step to insure the security and privacy of your accounts, there are a variety of ways you can monitor your Crescent accounts for suspicious activity, including:

- Monitor your transactions via Online Banking and/or Mobile Banking.
- Set balance alerts in your Online Banking account by selecting the "Alerts" menu item in the upper right side of the screen
- Set Debit Card limits and alerts with our CardValet mobile app

As always, if you see any suspicious activity on your Crescent accounts, please contact us immediately. Visit your nearest Crescent branch or call 508-559-5400.
